Eligibility

1. Applications are open to local students who are admitted to the 2024/25 academic year only; both full-time and part-time students are eligible;
2. The award of the fellowships will be based on merits taking into account the students' academic achievements, professional qualifications, relevant working experience, and achievements in other areas as well as the proposals submitted by the students; and
3. To avoid double subsidy, applications from students who are receiving other forms of government scholarship (except student financial assistance) for pursuing the same programme will NOT be considered.

Fellowship Amount

The fellowship students are only required to pay a tuition fee of HK$50,600 for the whole programme for the September 2024 intake.

Application Arrangements

The application is by invitation (i.e., students MUST first obtain an admission offer from the programme before being invited to apply for the fellowship.)
